INTRODUCTION

The officially reported information on officers, statistics, and related matters concerning religious bodies is the main content of this book. It might be called generally an elementary directory, presenting a collection of materials gathered by mail from officials of religious bodies. It includes data on all faiths, mainly in the U.S.A.

This is the 29th issue of a reference work that originated in an expressed need for a concise compilation of what is available from the headquarters of the various religious bodies. Since the year 1951 the YEARBOOK OF AMERICAN CHURCHES has been published annually. As an annual publication it records the continuous changes of officers of the numerous religious organizations, and provides a record of the official statistics that are published at intervals by the religious bodies.

The information assembled is presented in the form of directories, statistical tables, and historical annals. An effort is made to record known and recognized denominations, and to report for those willing to furnish information. Only a few decline to furnish information. Even for those preferring to decline information, the name and address of the organization are given.

The scope and limitation of the other directories are indicated in introductory notes with each. These listings are not exhaustive, technical directories, but rather informal collections of the names and officers of institutions, fellowships, publications, etc.

This "Edition for 1961" contains information gathered in 1960 and presents "the latest information" secured at as recent a date as practicable for the publication schedule.

The information in this book has thus been furnished by cooperating persons. While preparing the material for the printer, every effort is made to compare with previous reports and scrutinize carefully what is received. Ordinarily, however, it is not possible to verify the information by consulting published sources or other means. If, in spite of careful work, errors have occurred, the editor will thank the users of the book for corrections that will be made in the next edition.

For data on the nature and limitations of the statistics gathered, the reader is referred to the introductory and explanatory material found in the "Statistical and Historical Section." See also the "Guide" following.

BENSON Y. LANDIS

A Guide for the User of Church Statistics

The following is, in large part, a revision of material under the above title that appeared in Information Service, October 8, 1955.

One result of the current interest in matters religious in the U.S.A. is that many people use church statistics who have no background of information concerning them. For example, many writers assume that the number of church members is also the number of "church-goers," or of persons attending. One frequently reads that church attendance has been rapidly increasing, whereas there are no systematic reports available of church attendance, even at the principal Sunday morning service. There have been a few sample studies of church attendance by polling agencies, but these are not reports of the churches.

The following statements have been prepared as an aid to those who use or wish to use church statistics:

1. There are no complete, annual compilations of church statistics, gathered by uniform methods. The annual compilations published in the YEARBOOK OF AMERICAN CHURCHES simply present "the latest information" gathered by mailing blanks, on the same day, to the official statisticians of the religious bodies. But not all of the reports are for 1959 in the latest compilation.

2. The compilations are made from figures supplied by the statisticians of religious bodies. Many of these reports come from annual figures furnished by the pastors and clerks of local congregations. Others are based on estimates, or on reports not made annually.

3. The definition of membership is always made by the religious bodies themselves. For example, Jewish congregations estimate the number of Jews in communities having congregations. The Eastern Orthodox churches include the persons in the cultural or nationality group served. Roman Catholics, and a few Protestant bodies, number all baptized persons, including children, in the membership. Most Protestant bodies include only so-called adults, or persons usually beyond 13 years of age, as members. Yet in the YEARBOOK OF AMERICAN CHURCHES, 1945, it was estimated that about 5,000,000 members of Protestant churches were under 13 years of age.

4. Just as there are no national reports of church attendance, there are none on the proportion of members contributing money to local churches, or other data on the participation of persons included on the rolls of the religious bodies.

5. There has been no systematic inquiry concerning the "reasons" for the marked gains in church membership since 1940, in excess of the gains in population. Many persons make observations based, for the most part, on personal impressions. Some of the observers question the frequent use of membership statistics as an index of religious revival.

During recent years the President has proclaimed the first Wednesday in October.

It also indicates the number of Sundays during Epiphany and after Pentecost for each year of the period. Easter may come as early as March 22nd or as late as April 25th, thus bringing a wide variation in the number of Sundays included in certain of the Christian seasons.

(Formerly The Russian Orthodox Church Abroad)

Organized in 1920 to unite in one body of dioceses the missions and parishes of the Russian Orthodox Church outside of Russia. The governing body was set up in Constantinople sponsored by the Ecumenical Patriarchate. In 1921 headquarters were transferred to Sremsky Karlovtsy, Yugoslavia. From the end of World War II until 1950 the Synod was in Munich, Germany. In November, 1950, it came to the United States. The Russian Orthodox Church Outside Russia lays emphasis on being true to the old traditions of the Russian Church, but it does not compromise with official church leaders in Moscow, "since that would amount to being under the influence and direction of a godless State."

Evangelical and Reformed Church

This body was formed on June 26, 1934, by a union of the Evangelical Synod of North America and the Reformed Church in the United States, at Cleveland, Ohio. The union was unique in that it left all details to be adjusted after the union. The Constitution was declared in effect at the General Synod which met at Lancaster, Pa., in June, 1940. The merged boards were organized and on February 1, 1941, took over the work carried on by the two former denominations.

The Evangelical and Reformed Church and the General Council of the Congrega-

The United Church of Christ.

Evangelical Congregational Church

This denomination had its beginning in the movement known as the Evangelical Association, originated by Jacob Albright in the early nineteenth century. In 1891 a division occurred in the Evangelical Association, which resulted in the organization of the United Evangelical Church in 1894. An attempt to heal this division was made in 1922, but a portion of the United Evangelical Church was not satisfied with the plan of merger and remained apart, taking the above name in 1928. This denomination is Arminian in doctrine, evangelistic in spirit, and Methodistic in church government, with congregational ownership of local church property.

Jehovah's witnesses

"Jehovah's witnesses adhere to the oldest religion on earth, the worship of Almighty God revealed in his Bible as Jehovah. From man's beginning there have been at all times some of Jehovah's witnesses on earth, adhering to the Bible principle of separateness from all parts of the world organization of men. In modern times Jehovah's witnesses are primitive Christians, recognizing and teaching the Bible as God's word of truth, believing it and following its commandments, which accounts for their consistent neutrality toward any nationalistic interests. They use the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc., International Bible Students Association, and other corporations in their earth-wide preaching activity, and preach to all regardless of denomination. To be one of Jehovah's witnesses one must make an unconditional individual dedication to do the will of Almighty God and then must proceed faithfully to obey the commandments of God and Christ as expressed in the Bible, which course of action is the worship of God and is true religion.

"Therefore, all of Jehovah's witnesses are ministers of the gospel and have no human leader. Their Yearbook shows them active during 1959 in 175 countries of the earth, where there are approximately 871,737 such ministers preaching, teaching the people of all nations that God's word is true and that their only hope is in the Kingdom of Jehovah under Christ Jesus which has been established to rule over earth and which will replace all governments of man. There are now 4,020 congregations in continental United States with 239,418 members (ministers), and worldwide 19,982 congregations." (From a statement by the President of Jehovah's witnesses to the Editor of the Yearbook of American Churches.)

The Methodist Church

The present organization of The Methodist Church began in May, 1939, with the unification of three branches of Methodism—the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Methodist Protestant Church. All three of the uniting churches were in unbroken historical connection with Methodism in America. The 1948 General Conference adopted a resolution stating that the Christmas Conference of 1784 is regarded as the date on which the organized Methodist Church was founded as an ecclesiastical organization. At this Conference, held in Lovely Lane Chapel, Baltimore, Francis Asbury and Thomas Coke were elected superintendents and a program of expansion was outlined. The Methodist movement began in England with John and Charles Wesley, leaders of an evangelical revival, and was carried to America in 1760 by Methodist emigrants from Ireland.

Muslims

There are local centers of worship among Muslims in the U.S.A. A mosque, said to be in accord with the full Muslim traditions, was erected in 1953 in Washington, D. C. There are perhaps 15 or 20 places of worship in cities in the nation. There is apparently no general organization, and there are only the most informal estimates of the number of persons affiliated with the local centers. It may be that there are from ten to twenty thousand persons who participate in worship in these places.

The information in this paragraph has been gathered by the Editor of this Yearbook, by means of correspondence and interviews with Muslims in the U.S.A.

The following list comprises councils of churches and of religious education, with voluntary leadership. In order to conserve space, the term "council of churches" is not repeated with each entry.

Thus, e.g., "Alaska Council of Churches" is printed "Alaska," and the officer or officers follow with their addresses.

When the name of the agency is not a council of churches, it is printed in full.

STATISTICAL AND HISTORICAL SECTION

This section contains:

1. "The latest information" on church membership, religious education, and clergy, compiled from reports made by the official statisticians of religious bodies, for Continental United States. The figures furnished and here tabulated are mainly for the calendar year, 1959, or for a fiscal year ending in 1959. The methods used in this compilation are more fully described below. The most recent statistics on giving, as reported by a large number of religious bodies in the U.S.A. and Canada, and as published by the National Council's Department of Stewardship and Benevolence, are reprinted in part.

This compilation is a relatively simple or elementary one, presenting only brief summaries. It is completed just prior to printing, and the time schedule permits of no analysis or interpretation. It also contains no estimates by the editor of this volume.

These statistics thus differ from other sets of figures on religious affiliation. It may be helpful to note other types of statistics as follows:

The Census of Religious Bodies, conducted by the U.S. Bureau of the Census, 1906, 1916, 1926, and 1936, was made by means of a form mailed to pastors and clerks of local congregations.

An inquiry among a sample of civilians over age 14, asking the question, "What is your religion?," was carried on by the Bureau of the Census in 1957 and published in 1958 (summarized in the section below). Those stating that they had a religion obviously included not only members of religious bodies but also those with a preference.

A Church Distribution Study, made by the Bureau of Research and Survey, National Council of Churches, reported church membership figures available from the headquarters of 114 religious bodies for 1952, by regions, states, metropolitan areas, and counties. This study is more fully described below.

Various writers have from time to time made estimates of the number of children among members of religious bodies that do not count children in their total membership. No such estimates have been requested by officials of these bodies. Certain data related to age groups are found in a brief article, below.

1. THE LATEST INFORMATION

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

The reports on church membership received from official statisticians of religious bodies reveal a total of 112,226,905 persons in 254 bodies in 1959, compared with a total of 109,557,741 in 1958, as published in the previous YEARBOOK.

The total number of persons is equal to 63.4 per cent of the estimated population of the United States, compared with 63 per cent a year earlier, and 61 per cent two years ago.

This year, 254 bodies report figures; a year earlier 251 provided figures.

The total figure this year of 112,226,905 persons exceeds that of 109,557,741 a year earlier by 2,669,164 members, or 2.4 per cent.

Between 1958 and 1959, the estimated population of the United States increased 1.8 per cent.

Figures for church statistics for Alaska and Hawaii were requested this year.

There were reports from 226 Protestant bodies this year, with 62,543,502 members, compared with 224 reports of 61,504,669 persons a year ago, a gain of 1.7 per cent. The difference in the number of reports is accounted for by the fact that two small bodies having a total of less than 6,000 members reported this year and not for the previous book.

The Roman Catholic total figure is 40,871,302 this year, compared with 39,509,508 a year earlier, a gain of 3.4 per cent. The publishers of the Official Catholic Directory, New York, explained that the Military Ordinate, now with the status of a diocese, reported for the first time in 1958, and it reported 2,000,000 persons. The publishers also reported, in a press release, May 22, 1959, that it included persons in the armed services, "all families of the defense forces both at home and abroad, and the diplomatic and other services abroad."

An arrangement of the latest information by six major groups reveals the following:

STATISTICAL AND HISTORICAL SECTION

There are also Muslims in the United States, but no statistical reports are available. Informal estimates are cited in the directory of religious bodies in this YEARBOOK.

A recital of these trends and data gives rise to the usual questions about definitions of membership. The Roman Catholics count all baptized persons, including infants. The Jews regard as members all Jews in communities having congregations. The Eastern Orthodox Churches include all persons in their nationality or cultural groups. Most Protestant bodies count only the persons who have attained full membership, and previous estimates have indicated that all but a small minority of these are over 13 years of age. However, many Lutheran bodies and the Protestant Episcopal Church now report all baptized persons, and not only those confirmed.

The Church of Christ, Scientist, did not furnish membership figures because of a regulation of that body that forbids "the numbering of people and the reporting of such statistics for publication." In the Census of Religious Bodies, 1936, published by the U.S. Bureau of the Census, there were reported 268,915 members of the Church of Christ, Scientist.

The table giving the latest information on church membership follows:

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

There were 286,572 Sunday or Sabbath schools in all religious bodies in 1959, with 3,572,963 teachers and officers, and a total enrollment of 44,066,457 persons.

A year earlier there was reported a total enrollment of 41,197,313. Thus the increase was 2,869,144, or 6.9 per cent. This increase is in large part explained by that in one large body which previously reported for the year 1944, and now gives figures for a more recent year. A total of 230 bodies reported this year, compared with 229 a year earlier.

The Protestant churches, which have generally emphasized the Sunday school, reported 91.1 per cent of the total enrollment, and 90.8 per cent a year earlier. The total Protestant enrollment in this compilation is 40,349,972.

The figure of 3,301,401 persons, furnished by the publishers of the Official Catholic Directory, is that for public school children receiving religious instruction. For the previous year the number was 3,313,852.

For figures on previous tabulations, see Table V, under "Some Trends." The table of the latest information follows:

NUMBER OF CLERGY

The inquiry to statisticians of religious bodies asked for information on only two questions: the number of pastors having charges, and the total number of ordained persons. The reports are, as for the previous book, incomplete. Only 230 bodies made a report for pastors having charges.

This year the total number of pastors reported as having charges, in the 230 bodies reporting, is 243,203; the total number of ordained persons is 373,589.

Direct comparisons with previous years cannot be made because of the incomplete reporting. In the previous YEARBOOK there were reported 236,272 pastors having charges, and 365,234 ordained persons in 224 bodies. Many pastors leave the ministry for other occupations or are retired, but their names are often included among the total number of clergymen reported by religious bodies.

The table containing the latest information follows:

In Explanation of the Annual Compilation of Church Statistics

1. This report contains "the latest information," tabulated just prior to the printing of the book.

2. It contains data for the 50 states and the District of Columbia.

3. Many bodies, when they publish their total membership, include members outside the United States. Thus the figure we publish may be less than the total official membership.

4. It may be that religious bodies will publicly report later figures than those given here, and may even report them about the time these figures are released. There is no way of avoiding this because the various religious bodies make their reports public at different times of the year.

5. These figures come from the official statisticians of the religious bodies. They are gathered by means of a standardized form mailed on the same day to all statisticians. The aim of the editor is to gather the figures from all religious bodies at the same time, with equal procedure and fairness to all.

THE LARGER BODIES

There are 85 religious bodies with 50,000 members each or over, and these reported over 98 per cent of the total number of members, or 110,-616,476 persons, out of the total of 112,226,905 members.

GROUPS OF RELIGIOUS BODIES—LATEST INFORMATION

A tabulation of the latest information on churches and membership is given for groups or families of religious bodies, arranged below. In the parenthesis following the name of the group or family is the number of bodies reporting figures. No comparison is made with a previous year, because in some groups the same bodies do not report year by year.

STATISTICS OF CHURCH FINANCES

A compilation of the latest information by the Department of Stewardship and Benevolence, published November 1, 1959 for the calendar year 1958

Contributions totalling $2,352,159,290 are reported by 49 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox Churches in the United States.¹ Of this amount, $473,911,895 is reported under benevolences, including home and foreign missions, relief abroad, etc. The amount for benevolences is equal to 20.2 per cent of the total. (See Table on Page 276.)

For all local congregational items and operations the sum of $1,878,-039,317 was reported, equal to 79.8 per cent of the grand total of $2,352,159,290 (which includes an amount of $205,441 that could not be classified as either benevolence or congregational expense).

Forty of the 49 bodies reported figures this year comparable with those of the previous year. These 40 reported a total for all causes of $2,263,-830,588 this year, and a per-member amount of $62.25. The per-member figure a year earlier was $59.23. The gain per member over the previous year was 5.1 per cent. The total amount of $2,263,830,588 was 6.9 per cent above that of the previous year—$2,118,108,339.

For congregational expenses the 40 bodies reported this year the sum of $1,811,719,806, compared with $1,694,222,955, a gain of almost 6 per cent.

The per-member figure for congregational expenses in the 40 bodies is $49.82, a gain of $2.44, or 5.1 per cent over the amount of $47.38 reported a year earlier.

For all benevolences the 40 bodies reported $451,905,341, compared with $423,683,507 a year earlier. The gain was $28,221,834, or about 7 per cent.

Per member for all benevolences $12.43 is reported, compared with $11.85 a year earlier, a gain of 58 cents, or 4.9 per cent.

FOREIGN MISSIONS

Forty-six of the 49 bodies in the U.S. report a total of $86,944,184 for foreign missions. For the 40 bodies reporting comparable figures this year and last, the total contributions this year are $84,492,407, compared with

$80,608,219 last year. The per-member figure from the 40 bodies is $2.32 this year and $2.25 a year ago, a gain of 3.1 per cent.

CANADIAN CHURCHES

The latest information from the 6 Canadian bodies reporting indicates total figures of $101,099,963.² Of this amount $81,810,319 was for congregational expenses and $19,289,644 for all benevolences. The figure for benevolences is equal to 19.1 per cent of the total.

Three bodies reported comparable figures this year and last. These bodies reported a total for all purposes of $83,348,825 this year, compared with $75,729,994 a year ago.

The per-member figure in the 3 bodies for all purposes is $50.29 this year compared with $46.61 a year earlier, a gain of 7.9 per cent.

For foreign missions in the 3 bodies the per-member gift was $1.35 this year, compared with $1.31 a year ago, a gain of 3.1 per cent.

NEW BUILDINGS

For new buildings 25 bodies in the U.S. reported a figure this year. In these 25 bodies the total amount reported for this purpose was $358,358,112, equal to 32.5 per cent of the total of $1,101,232,849 reported by these 25 bodies for all congregational operations and items.

A year earlier 21 bodies reported $267,932,650 for new buildings, equal to 28 per cent of the total of $941,603,638 reported for all congregational operations and items.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES

Each reporting official was asked to state whether his denomination reported receipts or expenditures for the item of congregational operations.

The tabulation of replies received was as follows:

- 20 bodies reported receipts;
- 19 bodies reported expenditures;
- 10 bodies did not answer the question or did not report this year.

SOURCES

The data for these statistics are secured directly from the denominations. This is the only available source of such information. In spite of the fact that these are official reports, it should be noted that differences in denominational record keeping and reporting systems make it difficult to fit all the data into common categories. Every effort is made to provide a consistent and accurate tabulation of the material submitted.

The current report is the 39th of a series, begun by the United Stewardship Council. The United Stewardship Council was one of the agencies merged in 1950 to form the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. The Department of Stewardship and Benevolence of the National Council is the successor to the United Stewardship Council.

The reports here presented are from only a portion of the religious bodies in the United States. Total giving to all bodies can only be estimated, and no estimate has been made during the past few years.

² This figure is somewhat understated because figures for 2 bodies represent less than a 12-month period.

* Member of Department of Stewardship and Benevolence.  Figures for this body not used in calculating total per-member contributions because not comparable with figures for other bodies. ¹ Most of the increase in benevolences over last year is to be accounted for by the $1,660,122 reported under "non-budget denominational benevolences" under which item nothing was reported last year. ² This body reports its fiscal year as from August to July instead of from May to April as in the preceding years. ³ This body formerly known as the Evangelical Mission Covenant Church of America. ⁴ Total contributions figure includes $205,441 contributed to Lutheran Laymen's Movement for Stewardship. ⁵ Included in total contributions figure but not reported separately. ⁶ The relatively large increases in benevolences over last year are due to incompleteness of figures for previous years, according to the Director of Finance of this denomination. ⁷ Included in "denominational benevolences." ⁸ This body formed by merger of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the United Presbyterian Church of North America. ⁹ The figures reported by this body indicate considerable decline as compared with last year's figures, but they are more in line with earlier years. ¹⁰ Benevolence figures for this body represent a 6-month period only. ¹¹ Because of a change in the fiscal year the figures for this body represent only an 8-month period, and therefore per-member contributions are not shown. ¹² Total per-member contributions recalculated to make comparable with this year's figures.

DEFINITIONS

These statistics are furnished by national officials of the religious bodies reporting.

Budget Benevolences includes contributions from living donors to the benevolence budget of the denomination as determined by the proper authority.

Denominational Benevolences includes all of Budget Benevolences and such other contributions for the work of the denomination reporting as may be reported to denominational headquarters.

Other Benevolences are contributions for various benevolences not in the denominational list, and includes only a small part of what is actually contributed, because only what is reported to denominational headquarters is included here.

Total Benevolences is the sum of Denominational Benevolences and Other Benevolences.

Congregational Expenses includes contributions to expenses of the local parish or church, including building funds, repairs, fuel, minister's salary—anything that is for the local church.

Total Contributions is the sum of Total Benevolences and Congregational Expenses.

CONCERNING MEMBERSHIP

A total membership of 37,528,592 persons is reported by the 49 bodies this year, compared with 37,013,368 reported by the 51 bodies last year. The per-member gifts here published are computed by use of the figure on membership furnished by the official reporting the data on giving. This official was asked to supply a figure of membership, 13 years of age and over. In some instances, the official reported or estimated membership 13 years of age and over. In other instances, the figure furnished was "inclusive" or "total" membership, i.e., larger than the number 13 years of age and over.

The financial figures are gathered at a different time from the annual compilation of church membership by the Bureau of Research and Survey, published in the Yearbook of American Churches.

2. SOME TRENDS

The annual compilation of statistics on church membership and religious education can best be understood by comparison with figures for previous years. In this section available church statistics for earlier years are summarized.

Proportion of Church Members in the Population

Throughout the history of the United States, the proportion of church members in the total population has risen. Data for more than a century are given in Table I, below. In 1850, 16 per cent of the population were recorded on the church membership rolls. By 1950, 57 per cent of the people were so reported. In 1959, the percentage was 63.4.

Prior to the Census of Religious Bodies, 1926, the basis of reporting members in a number of religious Bodies was different from that followed in 1926 and since. For example, prior to 1926 a few bodies reported only heads of families as members; and a few other bodies at about that time began reporting all baptized persons, including infants, as members, instead of only adults. Thus the figures in the table for 1920 and prior years are not on the same basis as those for 1930 and following years.

Inclusive Membership of Religious Bodies

The number of church members of all faiths increased from 54,576,346 in 1926 to 86,830,490 in 1950, and 112,226,905 in 1959.

During the same period the estimated population of the United States increased from 117,136,000 in 1926 to 177,023,000 in 1959, including Hawaii and Alaska.

The figures for 1950 and 1959 appearing in Table II below include estimates of the number of persons in the armed forces serving overseas, since the church members among those in the armed services are undoubtedly included on the rolls of their home churches.

Members Per Church

Since 1926, the average membership per local church (parish, congregation) of all religious bodies has been increasing. In 1926 the figure was 235; by 1950, it was 304; and by 1959, 357.

Comparing 1926 and 1959, the increase was about 50 per cent (see Table IV).

The total number of Sunday and Sabbath schools in all religious bodies increased from 184,686 in 1926 to 246,240 in 1950, and 286,572 in 1959. (The term Sabbath schools is used to designate the schools of those bodies that observe the Sabbath on Saturday.)

The total enrollment in schools in all religious bodies increased from 23,206,374 persons in 1926 to 29,775,357 in 1950, and 44,133,014 in 1959. For figures for some previous tabulations of number of pupils see Table V, following. For data on age groupings see Table VI.

Protestant and Roman Catholic Comparisons

No precise comparison is possible between Protestant and Roman Catholic figures. Most Protestant churches enumerate as members persons who have attained full membership, usually at age 13. Probably 90 to 95 per cent of Protestant members are over 13 years of age. Roman Catholics regard all baptized persons, including children, as members.

Since 1926, the total membership of Protestant churches increased from 31,511,701 to 51,079,578 in 1950, and 62,543,502 in 1959 (see Table VII).

Protestants were 27 per cent of the total population of Continental United States in 1926; 33.8 per cent in 1950; and 35.3 per cent in 1959 (see Table VIII).

The membership of the Roman Catholic Church increased from 18,605,003 persons in 1926 to 28,634,878 in 1950 and 40,871,302 in 1959. Roman Catholics were 23.1 per cent of total population in 1959. (See Tables IX and X).

3. DATA ON RECENT CHURCH DEVELOPMENTS

CHURCH ATTENDANCE POLLS

According to sample polls of civilian adults, announced December 31, 1959, by the American Institute of Public Opinion, Princeton, N. J., 47 per cent of the persons interviewed stated that they had attended church during the week preceding the interview.

Similar polls have been made by the Institute since 1939, and the results were summarized as follows:

WOMEN IN THE MINISTRY

According to the Population Census of 1950, the Bureau of the Census has published figures reporting 6,777 women clergymen, or 4.1 per cent of the total number of clergymen, which was 168,419. The figures are for all religious bodies of all faiths, and there are no separate figures according to religious body.

A study of available published reports, appearing in Information Service, May 31, 1952 revealed 5,791 ordained or licensed women ministers, of whom 2,896 were pastors of local churches. Of the pastors reported about one-tenth were in communions affiliated with the National Council of Churches. A precise count could not be made, and the data were limited to the denominations publishing data. The figures could not be compared directly with any other compilation. It appeared that 63 religious bodies ordain women, while a total of 77 bodies ordain or license. Seven of these "give women special status of some sort." For a later discussion, "Women Ministers Today," see Information Service, National Council of Churches, March 6, 1954.

In 1956, the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. authorized the ordination of women, and the Methodist Church granted full clergy rights to women.

CHURCH-RELATED DAY SCHOOLS

In 1952, there were about 3,000 Protestant church-related day schools with about 187,000 children enrolled, compared with about 2,000 schools and 110,000 pupils in 1937. These were nursery, kindergarten, and elementary schools. The figures appeared in Information Service, National Council of Churches, May 3, 1952.

A later study, "Church-Related Elementary and Secondary Schools in Continental United States," appeared in Information Service, January 3, 1959. There were reported, among Protestant bodies, 1,353 kindergartens, 2,849 elementary schools, and 592 secondary schools, a total of 4,794. The Roman Catholic Church reported 9,400 elementary schools and 2,310 secondary schools, a total of 11,710 schools.

Protestant enrollments were 18,058 in kindergartens, 263,839 in elementary schools, and 76,842 in secondary schools, a total of 358,739. Roman Catholic enrollments were 3,400,000 in elementary schools and 690,200 in secondary schools, a total of 4,090,200.

MINISTERS' SALARIES IN TWO RELIGIOUS BODIES, 1948-1958

In the Yearbook, 1953-59, were presented figures on ministers' salaries in the Congregational Christian Churches, the United Presbyterian Church of N.A. (merged in 1958 with Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. to form The United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.), and the Protestant Episcopal Church for each year from 1939 through 1956. The actual figures were given for each year and these were then also stated in terms of "1939 dollars."

The consumer price index is now given in terms of "1947-49 equals 100," the term used by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics when presenting its index for city families with moderate incomes. In this Yearbook figures of average cash salary for the Congregational Christian Churches and the Protestant Episcopal Church for 1958, rent included, (the latest published), are compared with those of ten years earlier, both in terms of actual figures, and in terms of "1947-49 dollars," in the following table:

Year	CONGREGATIONAL CHRISTIAN		PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL
	Average Annual Cash Salary	"1947-49 Dollars"	Average Salary Rent Included	"1947-49 Dollars"
1948	$2,813	$2,736	$3,265	$3,526
1958	$5,152	$4,138	$5,600	$4,498

Notes on Sources:

a. The figures for Congregational Christian Churches are from Yearbooks of that body and are for cash salaries only.

b. Data for Protestant Episcopal Church are from Church Pension Fund, and include rental value of rectory (one-sixth of cash salary) when supplied rent free. When rent is paid the full rent figure is used.

c. The figures in terms of "1947-49 dollars" reflect changes in the purchasing power of the dollar, by use of the consumer price index of the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

MINISTERS REPORT TOTAL COMPENSATION

A sample of 2,201 ministers in nine denominations reported in 1956 the following figures with respect to their total compensation:

Average total compensation (cash salary, allowance, fee, perquisite [including rental allowance or an estimate of the rental value of dwelling furnished]) $5,827

(Of this amount the average cash salary was $4,436)

The denominations represented were The Methodist Church; Congregational Christian; Presbyterian, U.S.A.; United Lutheran; American Baptist; Church of the Brethren; Disciples of Christ; Evangelical and Reformed; Protestant Episcopal. (From The Church as Employer, Money Raiser, and Investor, by F. Ernest Johnson and J. Emory Ackerman. New York, Harper and Brothers, 1959.)

VALUE OF NEW CONSTRUCTION OF RELIGIOUS BUILDINGS

Estimates of the annual value of new construction of religious buildings, 1924-1959 inclusive, are found in U.S. Department of Commerce, "Construction Volume and Costs," a statistical supplement to Construction Review; and in Construction Review.

The published figures at 5-year intervals follow:

Year	Value	Year	Value
1924	$130,000,000	1944	$ 11,000,000
1929	147,000,000	1949	360,000,000

A CHURCH DISTRIBUTION STUDY

A total of 80 bulletins, in five series, was published between September, 1956, and early 1958, reporting the results of a study carried on in cooperation with 114 religious bodies. The general title is Churches and Church

RELIGION REPORTED BY AMERICAN CIVILIANS

Membership in the United States; the subtitle is "An Enumeration and Analysis by Counties, States and Regions." The bulletins are published by the Office of Publication and Distribution, National Council of Churches, for the Bureau of Research and Survey. The study was supported by a grant from a foundation and was authorized by the Division of Home Missions of the National Council of Churches.

The study is an effort to gather the statistics of churches and church membership for the year 1952 and to relate these findings to certain data in the 1950 United States Census of Population. All of the 251 religious bodies listed in the 1953 YEARBOOK OF AMERICAN CHURCHES were invited to participate. One hundred and fourteen bodies cooperated. While most of the 137 religious bodies not participating are relatively small, some are large. Among the large bodies not included are the large Negro denominations, the Churches of Christ, and the Church of Christ, Scientist. The total number of members reported was equal to over 49 per cent of the total population of the United States in 1950.

Protestant strength is greatest in the South, and least in the Northeast, while the Roman Catholic situation is the reverse. Wide variations occur among the states when church membership is compared with population.

A listing of Bulletins follows:

- Series A. Major Faiths by Regions, Divisions, and States. (4 bulletins.)
- Series B. Denominational Statistics by Regions, Divisions, and States. (8 bulletins.)
- Series C. Denominational Statistics by States and Counties—the basic data. (59 bulletins.)
- Series D. Denominational Statistics by Standard Metropolitan Areas. (6 bulletins.)
- Series E. Analyses of Socio-Economic Characteristics. (3 bulletins.)

The entire plan is fully described in Series A, No. 1.

DENOMINATIONAL SUPPORT OF COLLEGES

A portion of a survey, Voluntary Support of America's Colleges and Universities, is entitled "Denominational Support, for current operating expenses of Protestant Church-Related and Church-Controlled Liberal Arts Colleges and Universities, 1954-1955." It was made by the Council for Financial Aid to Education, 6 East 45th Street, New York 17, N. Y. (Mimeographed, 1957.)

Two hundred and forty-seven church-related and church-controlled colleges of Protestant bodies participated in the survey. They had an enrollment of 243,153 students and reported total denominational support of $19,200,982. The support per students was a median figure of $104.05, and per church member, 74 cents.

RELIGION REPORTED BY AMERICAN CIVILIANS

The question, "What is your religion?", was asked in 1957 of persons 14 years of age and over in a nationwide sample of about 35,000 households, by the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D. C., and the results have been published, 1958, in the Bureau's Current Population Reports, Series P-20, No. 79, "Religion Reported by the Civilian Population of the United States, March, 1957." The question, as earlier announced, was not used in the 1960 Census of Population. Answers in the inquiry of 1957 were voluntary. The "civilian population" as used in the report "included members of the armed forces living off their posts or with their families but not other members of the armed services." The replies received from the persons aged 14 and over in the sample were extrapolated for the entire civilian population, estimated to be 119,330,000 persons aged 14 and over in March, 1957.

Out of total population of 119,330,000, 14 years of age and over, 78,952,000, or 66.2 per cent, were reported to be Protestant; 30,669,000, or 25.7 per cent, were Roman Catholic; 3,868,000, or 3.2 per cent, were Jewish; 1,545,000, or 1.3 per cent, "other religions"; 3,195,000, or 2.7 per cent, "no religion"; and for 1,104,000, or 0.9 per cent, religion was not reported. The figures are not comparable with official reports of church membership. Those reporting a religion obviously included both those persons who regard themselves as affiliated with a religious body and those expressing a preference.

THE CHILDREN AND CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

One of the more controversial aspects of church membership has to do with "the children," an issue more fully considered in the 27th volume of this book. Only brief references to that article are given here:

In the Yearbook, 1945, the latest accounting of membership by persons under 13 years and those 13 years of age and over, all Protestant bodies reported 43,734,661 members, mainly in 1944, of whom 5,201,128, or 12 per cent, were under 13 years of age. The Roman Catholic Church reported 23,419,701 members, of whom 6,189,193, or 22 per cent, were estimated to be under 13 years.

Lutheran bodies reported to the National Lutheran Council for 1956, 7,338,176 members, of whom 2,457,720, or 33 per cent, were baptized but not confirmed.

The Protestant Episcopal Church reported for 1956, 2,852,965 members, of whom 1,017,434, or 36 per cent, were baptized but were not communicants.

Five large Protestant bodies in the National Council of Churches (Pres., U.S.A.; Ref. Ch. in Amer.; U. Pres., N.A.; Evan. and Ref.; Methodist) reported for years ending 1956 and 1957, 13,723,247 members, and 3,714,001 baptized and uncounted children, equal to 27 per cent of the members.

A Bureau of the Census inquiry of 35,000 households, using the question, "What is your Religion?", with results extrapolated for the nation as a whole, reported 30,669,000 Roman Catholics 14 years of age and over, and 11,757,000 under 14 in these households, the number under 14 being equal to 38.3 per cent of those over 14.

In the same inquiry (reported in Series P-20, No. 79, Feb. 2, 1958) the Bureau reported 78,952,000 Protestants 14 years of age and over, and 30,558,000 persons under 14 in these households, equal to 38.7 per cent of those 14 and over. The question was asked in 1957.

uba (Belgian Congo). Similar work on the New Testament is being done in the following languages: Modern Western Armenian, Bicol (Philippine Islands), Bilaan (Philippine Islands), "Popular" French, Ilocano (Philippine Islands), Kankanaey (Philippine Islands), Mam (Guatemala), Meninka (Guinea), Palau (Caroline Islands), Pampango (Philippine Islands), Cuzco Quechua (Peru), Quiché (Guatemala), Samareño (Philippine Islands), "Popular" Spanish Tagalog (Philippine Islands), and Tiruray (Philippine Islands). Translation and revisions were examined in numerous other languages and dialects.

Other projects in process of preparation include concordances in Portuguese, Chinese, and English. A re-edited reference edition of the King James Bible is being prepared. An international committee of scholars is at work in preparing a new critical text of the Greek New Testament for translators and ministers.

At the end of 1959 the whole Bible had been published in 219 languages and dialects, a complete Testament in 271 more and at least a complete book in 661 more, making a total of 1,151 languages and dialects in which a complete book of the Bible or more has been published by some publisher during the 500 years since the writing of the Gutenberg Bible. Most of these Scriptures have been published by the various Bible societies.

CONFRATERNITY EDITIONS

The St. Anthony Guild Press, Paterson 3, N. J., has published for the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, the following volumes of Scripture, translated under the auspices of the Episcopal Committee of the Confraternity:

The New Testament

First edition, 1941. In the course of various subsequent reprintings, numerous corrections and emendations were made piecemeal; these are listed collectively in the records as the second edition. The third, and definitive, edition was published in 1947. Subsequently there have been reprints.

The Old Testament

The Book of Genesis:

First printing, 1948. Second printing, with slight emendations, 1949. A third printing, using the 1949 text and including at the end of the book a set of discussion questions, was made in 1950 for the late Archbishop Edwin V. O'Hara, who made it the discussion-club text for that year in all the clubs of his diocese (Kansas City, Mo.). This book, with final corrections, was incorporated in Volume I of the Old Testament, 1952 (see below).

The Book of Psalms:

First printing, 1950. This book, with final corrections, was incorporated in Volume III of the Old Testament (see below).

The Old Testament, Historical Books, Volume I: Genesis-Ruth. First edition, 1952. Second edition, 1953. This is the first of a planned 4-volume translation of the Old Testament (see next entry).

The Old Testament, Sapiential Books, Volume III: Job, Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, Canticle of Canticles, Wisdom, Sirach (Ecclesiasticus). First edition, 1955. Volume IV, the prophetic books from Isaiah to Malachia, will appear in 1960. Volume II, the remainder of the historical books, will follow in due course. Because of demand the Psalms have been reprinted separately, (1959), same paper and binding as other Testament books.

NEW EDITION OF THE TALMUD

A new and revised edition of the ancient Talmud is being printed for the first time in 77 years by the World Academy in Jerusalem. For the first time in history, the Talmud will be punctuated, and will include a digest of unpublished commentaries going back to the 11th century which have been gathered from the four corners of the earth. These valuable documents have been made available from the world's leading libraries and private collections, including the Vatican, Bodleian, Oxford, and Columbia University. The last edition of the Talmud was printed by the Rom Press of Vilna, 1880-1886. The first volume is expected off the press at the end of 1960.

The literature in the Talmud embraces a period of about 1,000 years (500 B.C.E.—500 C.E.). The first known printed treatise of the Talmud was released in Spain about 1475, shortly before the Spanish Inquisition. During the succeeding 400 years, about 70 different editions of the Talmud were printed in Spain, Italy, Portugal, Poland, Switzerland, Holland, Germany, Austria, Russia, and Lithuania.

JEWES PUBLISH BIBLICAL ANTHOLOGY

Four volumes in a projected 15-volume edition in English of the Torah Shelemah, "Encyclopedia of Biblical Interpretations," have been announced by the American Biblical Encyclopedia Society, 114 Liberty Street, New York 6, N. Y.

The Society describes the anthology as designed to consolidate in a single collection translations of every known commentary on the Jewish scriptures made over a period of more than 2,000 years. This monumental project has been the life work of Dr. Menahem M. Kasher, a Polish rabbinical scholar now living in U.S.A., who has been engaged in the work for over 40 years. Some 19 volumes in Hebrew are completed. It is planned to issue one volume a year.

THE REVISED STANDARD VERSION OF THE BIBLE

Over eight million copies of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible have been sold in less than eight years since its publication, in addition to nearly five million copies of separate editions of the RSV New Testament.

In the same period fifteen thousand Pulpit Bibles in the Revised Standard Version have been sold, and this sale continues steadily at the rate of two hundred a month.

In eight months since its publication on September 30, 1959, 108,000 copies of the new Reference Edition of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible have been sold. This includes more than 75,000 references printed, according to the time-honored custom of Bible publishers, in a center column between the two columns of text on each page. It also contains a 192-page Concise Concordance, prepared upon the basis of the Complete Concordance, and twelve colored maps. Of Nelson's Complete Concordance of the Revised Standard Version Bible, prepared by electronic methods and published in 1957, thirty-four thousand copies have been sold.

The Revised Standard Version of the Apocrypha was published in 1957. Published in a separate volume, thirty-five thousand copies of the RSV Apocrypha have been sold; and sixteen thousand copies of the RSV Bible and Apocrypha, bound together in one volume, have been sold. Among the latter are nearly one thousand Pulpit Bibles with Apocrypha.

Until September 30, 1962, the Revised Standard Version of the Bible is published only by Thomas Nelson and Sons, of New York, Edinburgh, and Toronto, under a contract whereby this firm paid advance royalties to finance the fifteen years' work of revision of the English Bible. Announcement has now been made that, beginning with October 1, 1962, Thomas Nelson and Sons will be joined, as publishers of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, by five other publishing firms. These firms, in addition to Thomas Nelson and Sons, are Wm. Collins Sons & Co., Ltd., Glasgow and New York; Harper & Brothers, New York; A. J. Holman & Co., Philadelphia; the Oxford University Press, Inc., Oxford and New York; and The World Publishing Company, Cleveland and New York.

Addressing the International Congress of Old Testament Studies held at Oxford University in August 1959, Professor Millar Burrows, Vice Chairman of the Standard Bible Committee, said: "In one very important respect the Revised Standard Version differs from all the previous authorized versions. The British committee which made the Revised Version was disbanded when the results of its work were published. The American committee continued its labors until the American Standard Version appeared in 1901, but then declared that no further revision was contemplated, because any criticism which might be made would undoubtedly have been foreseen and considered already. The Standard Bible Committee which produced the RSV, however, continues in active existence as a Standing Committee of the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. The memorandum in which its commission is officially stated contains this paragraph:

"The purpose of the Committee is:

'1. To have charge of the text of the American Standard Version of the Bible and the Revised Standard Version of the Bible.

'2. To recommend to the Division when, in its judgment, revision of the texts of these Versions should be made, or any other projects in the translation of the Bible or related books from the ancient languages should be undertaken.

'3. To make such revisions or new translations as may be authorized by the Council upon recommendation of the Division.'

Professor Burrows reported to the Congress that an extended study of criticisms and suggestions concerning the RSV had been made prior to, and was reviewed by, a meeting of the Committee held June 9-16, 1959. At this meeting it was the unanimous judgment of the Committee that the time had not yet come for a revision of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible. "Such piecemeal proposals as we had before us were not an adequate basis for revision, and there were many important problems which required systematic and protracted investigation before we could tell whether or when revision would really be necessary. Much is now going on in the field of biblical scholarship which promises important results within a decade or two, but what these results will be cannot now be foreseen."

A few changes were authorized, which will appear in Nelson editions after November 1, 1960, and in the editions of the other publishers after October 1, 1962. Most of these are corrections of punctuation, capitalization, or footnotes. Some changes of words or phrases are made in the interest of consistency, clarity or accuracy of translation. Examples of such changes are "from," Job 19.26; "bread," Matthew 7.9, 1 Corinthians 10.17; "is he," Matthew 21.9 and parallels; "the Son," Matthew 27.54, Mark 15.39; "ask nothing of me," John 16.23; "for this life only," 1 Corinthians 15.19, "the husband of one wife," 1 Timothy 3.2, 12; 5.9; Titus 1.6.

The Bible Word Book, with the subtitle "Concerning Obsolete or Archaic Words in the King James Version of the Bible," by Ronald Bridges and Luther A. Weigle, was published by Thomas Nelson and Sons on March 1, 1960, and within the month a second printing was underway. It has met with generous reviews—"a treasure trove of information on how some clear-cut meanings in the King James Version of the Bible were made vague to readers in later centuries by the constantly changing character of the English language"—"A delight for all who love words and the Word"—"concentrates on words that have changed weight and freight since the King James Version"—"a work of which it is safe to say that it will see great usefulness"—"this volume is a must for anyone who loves either the Bible or the dictionary"—"pastors and teachers will find it an inexhaustible treasure of stimulating suggestion"—"it will interest all readers of the Bible, students of language and all who enjoy words."

An admirable British publication is The Story in Scripture: The Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible in Shortened Form, arranged by A. B. Davies and G. Henton Davies, published in 1960 by Thomas Nelson and Sons, Edinburgh. And from Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, comes an exceptionally helpful volume edited by Elfrieda and Leon McCauley, A Book of Family Worship, in which the Scripture readings are from the Revised Standard Version.

Meanwhile, the editorial work is proceeding steadily upon The Inter- preter's Dictionary of the Bible, to be published by the Abingdon Press in four to six volumes.

Work is also well under way on A New Testament Octapla, edited by Luther A. Weigle, to be published by Thomas Nelson and Sons. This will give, upon facing pages, the text of the eight outstanding English translations of the New Testament which record the development of the Tyndale-King James tradition. On the left-hand page will be the text of Tyndale, the Great Bible, the Geneva Bible, and the Bishops' Bible; and on the right-hand page, the Rheims New Testament, the King James Version, the American Standard Version, and the Revised Standard Version.

RENTER OR OWNER?

From renting to owning is one of life's happiest experiences. Possession gives a thrill and it is a special thrill if the renter acquires a property which he has rented too long. A foothold in the future fulfills a primal instinct.

A life insurance policy can be rented. A Term policy will serve as a temporary measure to meet an emergency, but the permanent possession of a contract opens a way to a new life. The owner adds to his property, plans to improve it, wants to own more. Taking care of it increases its value.

There is a time to own and a time to rent. But youth is owning time since insurance policies increase in cost with age while health hazards grow with the years.

It is a good policy to own a good policy. And the Fund sells the best.

You, too, can carry the church into the home

Many ministers have discovered an effective way of carrying the church into the home by establishing family worship and personal devotions. These ministers have found that with the aid of The Upper Room, they can broaden the ministry of their church and enrich the lives of its members through the practice of daily devotions.

The Upper Room, the world's most widely used devotional guide, contains a daily Bible reading, prayer and meditation. Many ministers like to leave a copy of The Upper Room when they call in the home, or have the church furnish a copy to every family in the congregation. Used either way, clergymen of all denominations have found that The Upper Room helps to carry the church into the home and enrich the lives of its users.

The cost of providing The Upper Room is indeed small. In lots of ten or more to one address, the price is only 7¢ a copy. Consignment orders may be arranged.

Write for a free copy of The Upper Room and folder describing a working plan to place a copy in every home for which your church has the responsibility.
